

PLANNING WEST

Advertising Information Kit

About Planning West:

Planning West is the quarterly professional planning news magazine of the Planning Institute of British Columbia (PIBC), the professional organization of planners in British Columbia and Yukon. The Institute was founded in 1958, and represents over 1,600 practicing professional planners, planning students and other members across British Columbia and Yukon. See the attached membership profile for more information.

Planning West contains an exciting mix of news and information about the Institute and its activities, as well as feature articles and opinion pieces about contemporary issues in planning – published in a magazine format. In print in some form since 1958, it is currently published four times each year (quarterly – winter, spring, summer & fall), and has a readership of nearly 1,700. Planning West is available in several academic and public libraries within BC and across Canada.

Paid annual subscriptions to Planning West are available to non-members. For more information about a subscription, please contact PIBC at: info@pibc.bc.ca
