Emergence is a professional development event targeted at new graduates and emerging planners. A panel of accomplished young planners with diverse lived experiences will adopt a storytelling narrative to discuss those topics not covered in class. From maintaining your values in a work environment, to having hard discussions with senior management and building meaningful relationships, this event will give emerging planners authentic experiences to consider as they navigate their own careers. On Tuesday, December 15th 2020, join us for the conversation.

Panelists

Katrina May Development Manager, Catalyst Community Development Society

Melissa Williams Urban Planning Consultant and Registered Social Worker

Lara Therrien Boulos Principal, Unearthing Wisdom Consulting Inc.

Chee Chan Rezoning Planner, City of Vancouver

Katrina May Development Manager, Catalyst Community Development Society
Katrina is an urban planning and development professional with 8 years' experience in the residential property management and development industry of multi-family rental housing. Katrina is committed to reimagining the housing delivery model in British Columbia and beyond. She thrives on building enduring community and industry partnerships that leverage the value of land for community benefit through social purpose real estate development.

Melissa Williams Urban Planning Consultant and Registered Social Worker
Melissa studied at the Bartlett School of Planning, and worked in London for a year before returning to Vancouver. Currently, she works as a Consultant for City Economics + Design Ltd., and as a Social Worker for Fraser Health. Her passion lies in utilizing her multidisciplinary background to address social issues within the built environment, and to build strategies to improve the overall well-being of community members.

Lara Therrien Boulos Principal, Unearthing Wisdom Consulting Inc.
Lara Therrien Boulos (she/her) is a mixed-race queer planner living on unceded Musqueam, Squamish, and Tsleil-Waututh territories. She primarily works on community planning and engagement projects with Indigenous Nations and organizations, and also offers strategic planning and facilitated equity workshops more broadly. Her planning practice is based on the principles of inclusion, deep listening, truth, relationship, and decolonization, and she brings an anti-racism intersectional lens to all her planning work. Find Lara on LinkedIn - she doesn't have a website yet as all her work has been through word-of-mouth!

Chee Chan Rezoning Planner, City of Vancouver
Chee is a Planner with the City of Vancouver, specializing in affordable housing projects. He has worked in municipal government for four years, and seven years prior in the private sector as a policy analyst in land use, transportation and climate adaptation planning.
