- Conducts review of various development applications including development permits, temporary use permits, variance requests, zoning bylaw amendments and official community plan amendments.
- Conducts extensive research in specific or general project areas.
- Writes and presents formal and technical reports, working papers, and correspondence.
- Develops strategies to promote economic and community development or efficient land use consistent with community goals.
- Evaluates adequacy of community facilities in meeting current and projected needs.
- Writes, or assists in writing, a variety of zoning amendments and regulations.
- Attends and presents at public meetings, committee meetings and Regional Board meetings.

Minimum Qualifications

- Well-developed knowledge of planning principles and practices.
- In-depth knowledge of one or more planning specialization, such as economic development, transportation planning, or environmental planning.
- Knowledge of principles, methodology, practices of research and data collection.
- Strong report writing skills.
- Strong project management skills.
- Knowledge of computer hardware and software programs, which may include Microsoft Office, Internet applications, econometric or transportation modeling, database management, or GIS.
- Oral communication and interpersonal skills to present research findings to various boards and committees.
- Creative problem-solving skills to gather relevant information to solve less well-defined practical problems.
- Ability to review plans and determine compliance with land use regulations.
- Group facilitation skills and conflict resolution skills.
- Ability to work on several projects or issues simultaneously.
- Ability to work independently or in a team environment as needed.
- Ability to attend to details while keeping big-picture goals in mind.
